

SHINING A LIGHT ON GREY LITERATURE

Pratt School of Information and
Library Science 2011

Bethany Edwards, Eloise Flood,
Thomas Keenan, Ashley Rode

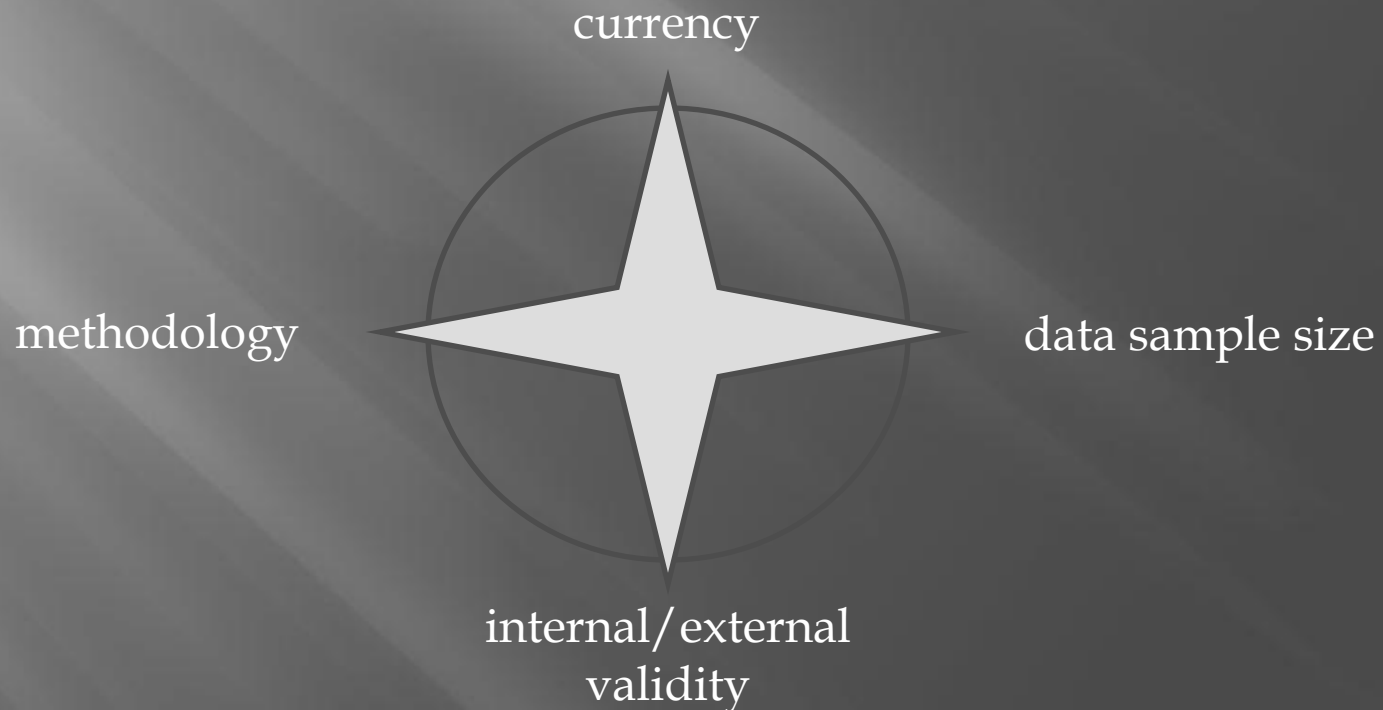

The Problem

There is a large and growing body of grey literature that has not been reviewed.

The Proposition

Short, easily-digestible reviews add a layer of evaluative metadata for easier navigation.

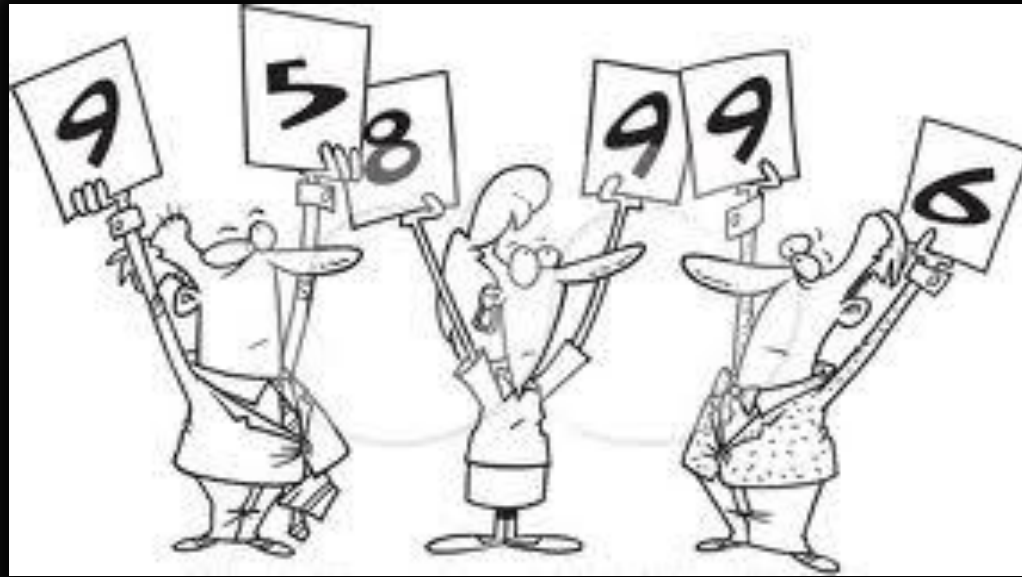

The People

We are library science graduate students in a class on scholarly communications.

The Process

After collectively reviewing hundreds of documents, we developed a succinct assessment template.

The Process

The Patterns

